Park County Students Dive Into Career Exploration During Recent Cougar Career Days

Community School Collaborative (CSC) hosted two incredible Cougar Career Days for 7th and 8th grade students, sparking curiosity and excitement about future career possibilities.

On Thursday, October 31st, all 7th-grade students embarked on an inspiring journey to Montana

State University for the first-ever 7th Grade Cougar Career Day: "Art in Action Halloween Edition." Students explored the Colleges of Art, Architecture, Music, Film, and Photography through interactive workshops. They engaged in hands-on art activities, discovered diverse career pathways in the arts, and expressed their creativity under the guidance of MSU's talented faculty and staff.

The day culminated with a live theater performance of A

On Wednesday,

Midsummer Night's Dream by Montana Shakespeare in the Schools, held exclusively for the students in the Black Box Theater. Following the performance, a lively "talk back session" gave students the chance to ask cast members questions about the play and explore theater careers, leaving them inspired by the and interior design, participating in workshops that showcased the practical applications of these fields. The students also toured West Paw's manufacturing facility, where they observed the production process up close and learned about the inner workings of a successful manufacturing business.

Both events exemplify CSC's commitment to helping students explore career pathways and build connections to their future. These Cougar Career Days not only provided engaging, hands-on learning experiences but also fostered a sense of excitement and possibility among students about their own potential.

Groundbreaking Ceremony for 4 Ranges Recreation Center

by Tony Crowder

A groundbreaking ceremony for the 4 Ranges Recreation Center was held at Katie Bonnell Park, the site at which the facility will be erected, on Thursday, November 21st. Community leadership and citizens gathered to celebrate commencement of the building's construction, a process that will begin this fall and unfold over the course of two years to realize the 43,500 square foot facility (nearly a full acre) with a grand opening anticipated in winter 2026/2027.

The ceremony began with opening statements from City Manager Grant Gager who is largely responsible for organizing and managing various projects intended to execute the multidimensional growth policy created to manifest the Livingston community's vision for the future—a vision, he says, involves recreation, health and well-being made possible through the largest philanthropic effort in Park County history: nearly 23 million dollars donated by individual contributors, local businesses and non-profit organizations from throughout the surrounding area, a fundraising endeavor led by the 4 Ranges Community Recreation Foundation, a non-profit group whose mission is improving health and wellness resources in Park County.

"We have raised almost a million dollars a month since summer," said 4 Ranges Board Chair Andrew Field, who also spoke at the event.

Initial funding, acquired with support from Chase Rose and his team at the Bannack Group (based in Bozeman), will be used to construct the facility, which will feature fitness equipment an expansive aquatics area, an indoor walking and running track and a gymnasium, as well as spaces for hosting partnering non-profit organizations. Common areas and locker rooms shared by male and female patrons of all ages will prohibit indecent exposure (enforced by staff and signage) and potentially deter acts of violence or theft. Changing stations for individuals and families will ensure optimum safety and accessibility within the facility.

City Commission Chair Karrie Kahle reminded attendees that admission to the facility, a space dedicated to strengthening community bonds, is free to all Livingston residents. Field also commented that this was made possible when Livingston residents voted to pass a local mill levy for funding the facility's operations. The special off-cycle election, which took place in March 2024, was a single issue, mail-in only ballot with an expected return rate of 25 to 30 percent. According to Field, roughly 60 percent of residents participated in the election and the levy passed with an astounding two to one ratio, ensuring city residents free access to the incredible benefits provided by the facility.

During his speech, Field said, "A majority of this year's ballot issues in Montana involving an increase in taxes have failed." Field, like Kahle, thanked local taxpayers for their contributions.

Kahle, Field and City of Livingston Recreation Director Maggie Tarr all spoke on the numerous benefits made accessible to citizens as a direct result of the recreation center's construction. Kahle emphasized that the facility will provide a safe place for citizens to recreate during inclement

Historical Success

for Annual Depot Center Wine and Beer Tasting Fundraiser

by Tony Crowder

The Livingston Depot Center hosted its 19th annual Wine & Beer tasting event on Friday, November 15th from 6:30 until 8:30 pm though their VIP admission began at 5:30 pm. The event, which started as a partnership between the Depot Center and the Gourmet Cellar, has since expanded to include local breweries and caterers, and functions as both a community gathering and fundraiser to preserve the Depot through continued maintenance and restoration. Over the years, money raised at the event has been used for renovating various parts of the building and funding exorbitant utility costs during the winter months.

This year's event was purposed with raising money for funding renovations to the Depot's restrooms—specifically, increasing the number and accessibility of restroom facilities in the main building, museum and Beanery Café. This project encompasses multiple phases, the first of which includes improvements to the women's restrooms. The Depot Foundation, the non-profit organization tasked with managing these projects, will continue raising money through various efforts to fund future phases, such as a new men's restroom, a unisex family restroom and fully accessible restrooms in the Beanery.

Depot Center director Laura Cota explains that though the foundation has raised over 175,000 dollars through grant funding, private donations and their 2023 Give a Hoot campaign, these projects are considerably expensive given the importance of maintaining the historic integrity of the iconic structure. The wine and beer tasting event, a longstanding community staple at the forefront of Park County's illustrious holiday season festivities, is instrumental in supplementing funding for the historic depot.

Ticket sales for the 2024 tasting increased from the previous year and marked the largest number of attendees and vendors in the event's history. Raffle tickets, wine pull games and the silent auction generated a significant amount of funding for operating costs and bathroom renovations. An array of items for the silent auction was provided by 85 businesses, artists, and individuals.

Grand Opening of Engine Room Pizza Relocation

by Tony Crowder

The long-awaited grand opening of Engine Room Pizza's relocation to the corner of 2nd and Callender Streets, (the former location of The Wok) took place on Thursday, November 21st following extensive renovations to the building located at 102 N Second Street. Engine Room, owned and operated by Karen Henderson, was previously housed at 113 W. Park Street, next door to the Perk on Park. The restaurant, which specializes in Chicago deep-style pizza, was voted 2nd and 3rd place in the journal's 2024 Best of Park County new business and best pizza categories, respectively. The business once shared a space with the Dreamboat Market, a deli and patisserie owned by Henderson, which was voted the 2nd best sandwich shop in the same competition. Henderson opened both businesses in mid-2023.

Engine Room now offers a variety of pizza options, salads, appetizers, dessert pastries, and deli sandwiches, amongst other items, all served in a stylish, newly renovated space located in downtown Livingston. Menu items include but are not limited to deep dish combinations like their signature Margo (tomato, basil, garlic, ricotta, mozzarella and parmesan), various flat pan (similar to hand-tossed) pizza recipes, Caesar and arugula salads, pastries such as cannolis and lemon bars, prime rib and Italian meats sandwiches, and an assortment of non-alcoholic beverages.

The menu also includes allergyfriendly options like The Prius, a flat pan recipe made with vegan cheese and gluten-free crust, though such accommodations can be made for nearly any pizza. Henderson is currently pursuing a beer and wine license through the Montana Department of Revenue's extensive application process and is anticipating approval in the near future.

Business hours listed online are Tuesday through Saturday from 11 am to 9 pm, Sunday from 10 am to 3:30 pm, and Monday from 4 to 9 pm. To weather, extreme temperatures and the wildfire season. Tarr, who has been involved with the city's parks and recreation department for nearly 11 years, says that "fostering human connection is at the heart of recreation."

Concerns regarding mental health in Park County were a major consideration by the Foundation during the planning and design phase. Harsh weather conditions during the extensive winter season and other factors create challenges and obstacles for citizens to socialize and engage in physical activity.

"Montana has the highest per capita suicide rate in the nation. The rate in Park County is nearly double [that figure]," says Field, who explained that as a longtime business owner, he has never been involved with something that will directly save the lives of his fellow citizens. Indeed, the CDC reports that "feeling connected to school, community, and other social institutions," is a community-level protective factor against suicide.

The recreation center and its construction will also serve to create jobs and consequently improve the local economy.

Though the 4 Ranges Community Recreation Foundation has raised sufficient funding to initiate construction, the group will continue seeking an additional two million dollars for equipment and landscaping expenses prior to the facility's grand opening in two years. An endowment of five million dollars will also be sought to fund continuing operating costs and other expenditures.

Indulge Your Sweet Tooth with a BETTER-FOR-YOU SWAP (Family Features) If you've ever come home from a crisp, cool day craving a warm, indulgent treat, you're not alone. Trouble is, sometimes those baked goodies are a bit too much work when you're ready to just cozy up on the couch.

There's good news: Baking doesn't have to be hard when you make simple swaps and use ingredients that keep things easy. Try adding fresh produce to a boxed brownie mix in these Sweetpotato Cheesecake Brownies for an "in between" recipe that satisfies your sweet tooth without the hassle.

Plus, it offers a better-for-you twist as the sweetness from mashed sweet potatoes can replace some of the sugar needed to bake regular brownies. Sweetpotatoes are rich in vitamins, minerals, antioxidants and fiber, all of which are good for overall health in this natural sweetener.

While you're sharing this newfound favorite dessert with loved ones, you can also share this fun fact: "Sweetpotato" is deliberately spelled as one word by the North Carolina Sweetpotato Commission. The sweetpotato and white potato are two distinct species representing two different plant families, and the oneword spelling helps correctly distinguish the two.

Give these better-for-you treats a try and find more delicious desserts and other creative ways to use sweetpotatoes at ncsweetpotatoes.com.

ASPEN Support Available Through the Holidays

ASPEN, Abuse Support & Prevention Education Network, is available through the holidays, and staff will be stopping by some local businesses beginning December 2nd to leave materials with ASPEN's contact information. The idea is to ensure the community is aware of the type of support ASPEN offers and is able to easily give any person who may need them ASPEN's support line number and website, (406) 222-8154 and aspenmt.org.

ASPEN works through education and outreach to foster healthy relationships and to build a community free from violence. Unfortunately, not every member of every family is able to celebrate peaceful holidays. During the busy season, incidents of domestic and intimate partner violence often increase. Added stressors such as finances, more people, different schedules, different expectations and drinking contribute to issues that may lead to coercion or violence.

ASPEN provides free, confidential services such as a 24-hour support line, emergency shelter, crisis counseling, information and referrals, safety planning, assistance with orders of protection and forensic medical exam support in Park, Meagher and Sweet Grass Counties.

ASPEN staff hope knowing resources are available may help a survivor or family member of a survivor get connected to help they need that is empowering and without judgment.

ASPEN has resources available to help victims/survivors of domestic assault, dating violence or stalking and to help friends and relatives. Advocates are available to listen and provide advocacy and support. ASPEN's office will be closed on the upcoming major holidays, but their support line will be monitored throughout. The public can contact ASPEN to request cards, magnets and other materials with their contact information anytime by emailing emily@aspenmt.org.

NOTICE OF RATE INCREASE AND PUBLIC HEARING

The Town Council (the Council) of the Town of Clyde Park, Montana (the Town), will consider a Resolution of Intention to Increase the Monthly Water Rates in order to pay for the escalating costs for the repair, replacement and maintenance of the water system.

The Town currently owns and operates a municipal water treatment and distribution system (the System) and imposes a monthly rate charge on all connections to the System (the Monthly Rate Charge). The costs of the System covered by the Monthly Rate Charge are the amount necessary to pay the costs of operating and maintaining the System, to pay the principal of and interest on any outstanding or authorized debt of the System and to establish and maintain any reserves and other debt service requirements.

The current Monthly Rate Charge for the base rate is $65.00 per 4,000 gallons per month.

The proposed Monthly Rate Charge for the base rate will be $88.71 per 4,000 gallons per month.

The reason for the proposed increase of monthly rates to System users is to pay for the increase in costs for the repair, maintenance and replacement of certain elements of the System when such is necessary.

On November 11, 2024, at 7 pm at the Town Hall, the Council conducted a public hearing on the Resolution of Intention to Increase the Monthly Water Rates. Comments may be given orally at the hearing or submitted in writing to the address below before 11am on December 7, 2024.

Further information about the proposed rate increases may be obtained by contacting the town clerk, Town of Clyde Park, P.O. Box 177, Clyde Park, Montana 59018, phone: (406) 686-4719, email: clerktreasurer@

December ushers in winter holidays such as Christmas, Kwanza, and Chanukah. It's a time when families gather in the warmth of their homes. Throughout the month, thoughts and actions turn toward charity and peace. December inspires a flurry of activity both in the business world and our personal lives. Sales, shopping, family gatherings, school holidays, baking, and seasonal changes remind us of the past while we look to our futures

DECEMBER - The name December comes from the Latin word 'decem' meaning ten. On the Roman calendar, December was the 10th month. However, Numa Pompilius adjusted the calendar when January and February were added. December became the twelfth month, and the calendar more accurately reflected the length of a year on Earth.

During December, the winter solstice tips the Northern hemisphere its furthest distance from the sun. Through most of the month, its inhabitants lose about 2 minutes of sunlight per day until the winter solstice. The winter solstice marks the start of winter and the shortest day on the calendar. However, from that day forward, the days will slowly lengthen. They may not be warmer, but the Earth is tilting on its axis back toward the sun.

Holidays and Traditions December is a big baking month for many. In the United States, families, churches, schools, and organizations bake cookies to exchange. They are often part of the gift-giving and ugly sweater parties that occur right before or during the holidays.

Winter sports are in high gear throughout December. Whether indoor or outdoor, fans tune-in or fill arenas. While hockey, football, and basketball seasons bring thrills each year, skiing and snowmobiling keep the outdoors busy.

Birth Stone Those born in December claim three icy cool birthstones. Tanzanite, found only in Tanzania, is a deep glacial purple. Blue Zircon (not to be confused with cubic zirconia) is the oldest mineral on Earth and comes in a variety of colors. Finally, turquoise, with its distinct color and veins, comes in a variety of shades. Prevalent throughout the Southwestern United States, turquoise also added value and meaning to clothing, ceremonies, and more.

Two U.S. Presidents were born in December, Woodrow Wilson and Martin Van Buren. Celebrity birthdays for Jeff Bridges, Marisa Tomei, Lucy Lui, Judi Dench, Jamie Foxx, Brad Pitt, and Denzel Washington.

Fun and historic December days... Holidays like these can add a bit of whimsy along with their history and patriotism:

The Big Turkey Day at Arrowhead School

by Joyce Johnson

Who would ever have thought free chow at the kid's school would be so excellent and so much fun? Starting with me and my neighbors in the car talking and drove right past the school before we caught it, and turned around. My fault as guide. Been a long time since I'd visited the school. My pony didn't have a habit of turning into that little road. A student formally greeted us, slightly frowning in the frisky damp windy air at the open door to the school. We walked down the long hallway lined with cheery fall artwork on the walls, a big box of giveaway snack packets and free used books. We walked respectfully past a giant inflated turkey. This must be the place. The noisy gym beyond had many diners already plus a full team of parents, teachers, volunteers, and young students wearing small sized professional aprons busy greeting everyone and hurrying around. Conference tables were shoved together to create long ones the length of all sides of the gym and a few circular ones to fill the middle.

What bright cheery people, big and little! The kids were eagerly engaged with every imaginable way of serving us. A little boy, supervised by a grinning dad, took my name and another boy escorted me to the food line, though I would have found it myself. I thought I'd better start asking questions for a column about this bright vibe. I found out that there are about 65 students, and a lot of them were there, obviously. The school had only four main teachers (and a number of assistants), who taught 2 grades each, except for the higher grades which were taught 3 in one. Somewhere along the line I wished I was again 5 or 6, and a student there. No kidding.

A multi-use gym with a kitchen! my friend Andrea, who teaches there, said the kitchen was recently renovated, and it did look shiny and new, but my attention was captured by the mix of moms and or volunteers smiling behind the counter, and generously filling my plate. I nodded yes to everything. The Gym had a curtained wall behind one of those long tables: a stage I think, whose raised ledge was lined with beautiful handmade holiday wreaths for a silent auction monitored by the kids. I noticed later some really generous amounts written on the clipboards, and nod with approval at the "big kids" who bid on them. I noticed the basketball net contraption high above and said to my neighbor, "Basketball anyone?" If there wasn't a table under it, I would not have been surprised if an impromptu game had started up among some of us. There was such an extraordinarily happy busy family vibe in the gym. The only missing element was, of course to me... everyone's dogs.

I wasn't the only one ranting about it. Others were too. One friend said pointedly to me, "This is not your big city school." Slam dunk true. I felt a second helping of gratitude that I have lived in this one great place for almost 40 years. I have to tell readers, too, that the food was awesome good, well prepared, organic as possible, and very generously piled upon our big plates. I almost broke out with "food glorious food!" like Oliver. I am not kidding. I settled down with my neighbors nearest to the busy long pie table. You didn't wait til after the meal, and you couldn't just pick one. Apple, pumpkin and pecan had all to be uh, tested... to be fair. Three cans of help yourself whipped cream was the winning touch. The kids fun to be served by these gorgeous children. I wanted to paint them all.

I had all three... several

Take Home Please? I kept getting up between bites to say hi to friends, so it took a long time for me to eat dinner. Meanwhile the place just filled to max. I went back to the line and begged to make up a dish to bring home for Ron who was out of town til that night. They were happy to oblige. Same for another diner's spouse who couldn't make it. My neighbor accidentally ate my pie. So I got another plate full of the necessary choices for testing... for Ron. Laminated student paintings lined the decorated paper table whose paper covering was also painted by the students. I was entertained by all their fun art. I brought a laminated finger painted hand print home and it's on my fridge as I type. About every 10 feet were different vases of Fall color bouquets in jars wrapped in more arty stuff. And my neighbor offered to buy one. A mom said, "oh sure, just pop a little donation in the box." I started wandering around taking pictures, because how can I ever find the words to describe this event? We left after stuffing something in the donation box, and slowly made our way out. I took a couple books at the free youth used book table and have already

I know I speak for hundreds of us lucky locals who were there and want to sincerely thank everybody at Arrowhead for the happy hit you gave us all at the multi-generation community event. You must do it again soon. Sponsors were the school P.T.A., Albertstons, Bank of the Rockies, the local Berman Family, St. John's Episcopal Church, Whole Foods in Bozeman, 21st Century CCLC Grant, Greater Gallatin United Way. Thank you! [My parting comment to a volunteer was that I think we should do a donation to take a picture with Tom Turkey next time. I volunteered to facilitate it, and they said yes.]

Craig Johnson brings Longmire Back to Elk River Books

Acclaimed author Craig Johnson returns to Elk River Books with the newest installment of his wildly popular Sheriff Longmire mystery series, Tooth and Claw, for a free reading and discussion on Sunday, Dec. 8th, at noon.

The novella, a break from the usual Longmire setting of today's northeastern Wyoming, finds Walt Longmire and his partner Henry Standing Bear—both recently returned from Vietnam—in the Alaskan tundra facing down a ferocious polar bear. However, they soon realize that the real danger at the remote oil rig, where Longmire has a security job, is lurking among his co-workers who are after a priceless treasure and will stop at nothing

Johnson is the New York Times bestselling author of the Walt Longmire mystery novels, which are the basis for Longmire, the hit Netflix original drama.

The books have won multiple awards, including Le Prix du Polar Nouvel Observateur / Bibliobs, the Wyoming Historical Association's Book of the Year, Le Prix 813, two Western Writers of America Spur Awards, the Mountains & Plains Book of the Year, the SNCF Prix de Polar, Publishers Weekly Best Book of the Year, the Watson Award, Library Journal's Best Mystery of the Year, the Rocky, and the Will Rogers Award for Fiction. His novella, Spirit of Steamboat, was selected by the Wyoming State Library as the inaugural One Book Wyoming. Johnson lives in Ucross, Wyoming, population 26.

"Like the greatest crime novelists, Johnson is a student of human nature," notes the Los Angeles Times. Walt Longmire is strong but fallible, a man whose devilmay-care stoicism masks a heightened sensitivity to Flk River Books presents two author book signings during this year's downtown Livingston Holiday Stroll. Historian Jon Axline and illustrator Leah Tiscione will sign copies of their books from 4 to 8 pm on Friday, Dec. 6th. Special in-store discounts and seasonal refreshments will also be featured.

Axline is the author of Detour Montana: History by the Roadside, which provides a deep dive into the stories behind many of Montana's roadside historical markers. The book takes readers along the aboriginal trails, territorial roads, historic bridges and fascinating stopping points connected to Montana's lively and exciting transportation history.

Axline has been the historian at the Montana Department of Transportation since 1990. He is the author of Conveniences Sorely Needed: Montana's Historic Highway Bridges, Taming Big Sky Country: The History of Montana Transportation from Trails to Interstates, The Beartooth Highway: A History of America's Most Beautiful Drive and Montana Highway Tales. He is also the co-author of Hidden History of Helena with Ellen a hilarious and insightful guide by this former karaoke DJ (aka "KJ"). This book is packed with invaluable tips and tricks to elevate your performance and make you the life of the party. Whether you're a karaoke enthusiast or a reluctant participant, Tiscione's witty and relatable advice will have you belting out tunes with confidence.

Tiscione is an illustrator, graphic artist and author, with notable clients such as the New York Post, MAD Magazine, Amazon and Marvel. She

Also, knowing how many people loathe karaoke, she wanted to outline etiquette that would make it a bit more palatable even to the haters. Hopefully

Kevin Grange Discusses Grizzlies at Elk River Books

Backcountry firefighter and paramedic Kevin Grange will discuss his new book, Grizzly Confidential: An Astounding Journey into the Secret Life of North America's Most Fearsome Predator, on Thursday, Dec. 5th. The free event, which will feature a video presentation, is co-sponsored by Park County Environmental Council.

The book takes the reader from Grange's home in the Tetons to an eerie, mist-shrouded island of gigantic bruins; from the Bear Center at Washington State University—where scientists believe the secrets of hibernation might help treat diabetes, heart disease, and obesity in humans—to the dark underbelly of for-profit wildlife parks, the illegal animal trade, and black markets hawking bear bile.

Grizzly Confidential is about bears but also the inspiring people who look after them. This is a fast-paced, gripping story that educates, entertains, and gives a sneak peek into the secret life of a well-known species. Part science, part travelogue, and a passionate plea for bear conservation, Grizzly Confidential is a lively account for anyone who loves the outdoors and learning about the natural

Fight Bears: Mythic Past and Imperiled Future. "Grange takes readers on the trail of the grizzly, confronting the complicated relationship between bears and people, and what it takes to coexist in America."

Granae is the award-winning author of Wild Rescues: A Paramedic's Extreme Adventures in Yosemite, Yellowstone, and Grand Teton; Lights and Sirens: The Education of a Paramedic; and Beneath Blossom Rain: Discovering Bhutan on the Toughest Trek in the World.
